The first sign of prosperity is a savings account. Consistent saving teaches economy and thrift. Many a person has soared to great wealth through first knowing the meaning of saving. Having a surplus of money affords many thrifty opportunities that otherwise would only result in hope. Save constantly and prove to yourself the advantages.

This popular savings bank is an honorary to its prototype, the Rev.
Henry Duncanson, who started his humble bank in Ruthwell Village, Scotland, and founded organized thrift.
A banking institution, as well as an individual, has character built by the difficulties it overcomes and its struggle toward the attainment of its ideals. Here you will find strength, seasoned judgment, dependability, accuracy in handling details, and breadth of vision—all to be applied molested monthly immediately orderhis apprehension, it was discovered that fiction filching was the most re-manner of his making a living. Two

Convicted on the charge of petty

Bethel
and Vicinity

THROUGH THE COLUMNS OF THIS EDITION WELCOMES ALL TOURISTS TO MAKE THIS SECTION OF THE STATE ONE OF THEIR STOPPING PLACES IN THE "SEEING OF AMERICA FIRST"
—WE EXTEND THE GLAD HAND OF HOSPITALITY—NO MATTER
WHETHER YOU COME BY TRAIN, AUTO, AIRPLANE OR ZEPPELIN, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO SECURE AMPLE ACCOMMODATIONS AND EVERYTHING YOU NEED.

Touring has become one of the nation's greatest pastimes and its broadening influence upon the national life is being felt in the molding of the country into one people and the elimination of the old idea of hermitage and aloofness.

America Rapidly Becoming One Great Community

In the past decade, transportation and touring have perhaps had more influence upon our national life than any other single factor. With the development of the steam railroad to its fullest efficiency, with its luxurious trains, the electric line, the auto and the bus as well as the rapidly growing air travel we have devised ways and means of getting about that are not only comfortable but are luxurious. The cost of transportation has been greatly decreased by the advent of the auto and now the whole family can cross the continent for a price that is what it formerly cost the head of the family. This mingling of the people has had a great educating influence.
Formerly men lived and died in a community and many ventured not many miles from their doorstep thinking that they had the greatest place in the world. Now all communities are rated for what they do and are and each has its particular place in the one great community. Barriers such as the Mason & Dixon line are melting away and are, really, only a memory.

Good Roads Lead To Scenic Beauty

The first construction of highways was of necessity on the main lines of travel, but with their completion, we are now entering upon the final phases of this great development and good roads are passing the door of every farm house. This year there will be something like 25,000 miles added to the construction program and it will not be long before they are everywhere.
Railroads are consolidating into vast systems that span the continent and the airplane lines are multiplying. It is now no trouble to get about.

Every Family Should Take A Few Weeks Each Year To Tour

Marco Polo was the first great traveler of history and he brought home to his native city and country much valuable information which aided in the education of the people. Since this time we have had many noted adventurers and explorers. Today, every man, woman and child should be a tourist for a part of the year and see the country. It is important for the progress of the nation that all should observe how others are doing. Travel is one of the most broadening of the departments of education and completely does away with provincialism.

Arrange Time For Leisure, Touring And The Art Of Living

America has been a country going at a maddening pace and the story of Manhattan has been "Hurry, Hurry, Hurry." Many think they do not have time to look over the country. All will have time to do. When the hour comes, we take the time. You should arrange a trip to look over the development, the scenery and the progress of this great country.

We are now passing through the evolution of business life caused by the introduction of mass production in manufacture and on the farm. It will eventually give all leisure and time to look around. The more trips you arrange the more you are aiding in the great evolution and drifting toward the age when men will only work a few hours a day.

Good Roads Being Extended To Every Hamlet

For those who love the beauty of nature in all its variety a tour of America offers an excellent reward. One can visit the mountains, the plains, the desert, see the oceans, the lakes and rivers. There is no thrill of natural beauty that cannot be found here. The good roads lead from the northern forest to the coral shores where in a few days you can be transported from the country where it grows almost too cold for permanent abode to the land where you can sit under the palm trees and be fanned by the trade winds. From the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia to the lofty peaks of Colorado and California in only a few days. You can stop in the desert and see the stars and moon at close range. You can pause in Yellowstone or at the base of Mt. Shasta and watch creation putting the finishing touches upon one of its worlds.

Insisting that everything about their place be in accordance with the most modern, scientific ideas regarding sanitation they have thus assured the public that feeds coming from their place is pure and wholesome. Dr. M. J. Brooks

Located At 81 Congress St., Rumford, With Rumford Jewelry Store Has An Extensive Practice And Has Been A Great Aid To Many To Correct Vision—Has Complete Equipment And Stock Of The Latest Styles In Frames—Is A Specialist In The Scientific Examination Of Eyes And The Fitting Of The Proper Glasses.

Dr. M. J. Brooks of Rumford enjoys an enviable reputation both among the people of this part of the state and in the professional circles, both of which attest to real ability and experience.

He has made a very thorough study of the eye and can readily tell you all about the history of eyesight and why glasses are so prevalent today. Eminent scientists and students of the advancement of the race have realized that man in long long yesterday did very little reading and was accustomed to see long distances. With the invention of printing and the sudden popularity of the press came an eye strain on the race that requires adjustment of the eyes and this in most cases requires glasses.

While many eyes are only slightly strained yet glasses are necessary for the correction of the trouble and the protection of the eye.

He renders a very comprehensive service. You do not have to run around from place to place to secure complete service. He makes a scientific and accurate examination, finds what kind of glasses are needed and then prepares them in the laboratory. He secures from the factory the best of good glass, has the most accurate equipment for the grinding of the lenses and a complete line of frames from which to make a selection.

His experience, education and equipment place him in a position to correct all errors of refraction and to practically insure you that you will have absolute eyesight ease.

It is quite fitting that in this edition we give prominent mention to this progressive professional man on the success he has attained and his very commendable and satisfactory service. We take this opportunity to compliment him upon the success of the business and to urge upon the people that his service should be appreciated and placed in their minds as one distinctly satisfactory.

Leach's Studio

At 35 Exchange St., Rumford, Is Headquarters For Everything Photographic Including Portraits Of Quality, Featuring Children's Pictures And Home Group Pictures And Commercial Work—Stop And Look Over The Collection Of Photographs—Have Made Photographs Of Many Prominent Persons Of This Section—Mr. Leach Has An Extensive Stock Of Motion Picture And Still Cameras And Does Excellent Developing Work.

The days of the renaissance mark the beginning of modern art and in the various branches it has progressed to a marked degree. Da Guerre obtained his inspiration for the invention of photography from the works of the masters of this period and at once combined art and mechanical science.

Mr. Leach is a deep student and admirer of the artists of all the various periods and keeps thoroughly abreast of the times in the rapid development of photography. He has equipped the studio from time to time to keep pace with the rapid changes of the age of mechanics, but in all the work can be traced the eye of the artist and the careful touch that sets the photography off and makes it individual and different from that of the photographer who depends upon the camera alone.

He features a complete service in portraits. Here in this studio can be seen many photographs of the leading pioneers and residents of the county as well as the brides of the season, the graduates, the children, the reunion pictures and in fact everything from the simplest picture to the highly commercialized photography which is demanded in this age of rapid industrial development.

In the artistic production of children's photographs they have won an enviable reputation for being able to "catch them" in the most natural and delightful moments. Among the prized possessions of hundreds of parents are photographs of their children.

If you are figuring on any photographic work it will pay to have a little talk with him before finally arranging for the work as he is experienced in arrangement and will see that you are photographed to the best advantage.

It is incumbent upon every man, woman and child to have photographs of themselves at the various ages so that the photographic record of the family can be maintained.

In making this review we are pleased to compliment Mr. Leach upon his very successful career in the art circles of this part of the state and to refer the studio to all of our readers.

LORD BACON ON "HOW TO LIVE"

"Avoid envy; anxious fears; anger; fretting inwards; subtle and knotty inquisitions; joys and exaltation in excess; sadness as communicated. Entertain hopes; mirth rather than joy; variety of delights, rather than surfeit of them; wonder and admiration, and therefore novelties; studies that fill the mind with splendid and illustrious objects, as histories, fables, and contemplations of Nature."

They are familiar with the bakery business and by experience have learned the various features that are conducive to success. During the year they evidenced much wisdom by purchasing in large quantities at the right time, and are therefore able to offer the people the very best quality products and the most accommodating service.

With Office At 69 Main St., Berlin, Is One Of The Foremost Chiropractors Of This Section Of The State—Has Brought Relief To Many—Dr. Goodwin Is A Graduate Of The Palmer School, "Fountain Head Of Chiropractic."

In the advancement of the last decade there is no profession that has come forward more rapidly than chiropractic and in this part of the country there is no one who has been more successful than Dr. R. F. Goodwin.

She is most efficient in analysis and adjustment and no matter what may be wrong with you if you will call at the office you will find that she will be able to make adjustments that will be highly beneficial.

Chiropractic is a philosophy, science and art of things natural; a system of adjusting the articulations of the human spine by hand for the elimination of the cause of disease, and as an exact science has existed throughout the ages, but its knowledge was tabulated only some 20 years ago.

Dis-ease is an effect; every effect must have a cause. The cause of dis-ease is lack of life energy, which chiropractically speaking, is mental impulse, going from the brain over the nerves to every cell in all parts of the body.

Subluxations of spinal units may be caused in various ways, such as by falling, straining, overwork, or introduction of poisons into the body, or the violation of any of nature's laws, etc.

Lack of mental impulses is due to impingements of nerves which, pressing against the soft substance of nerve structure, impede the normal flow of nerve energy. These impingements are in most instances due to subluxated vertebral segments.

She has well appointed offices and will be pleased to welcome anyone and explain in detail how chiropractic is related to them and show by practical demonstration the working of the science as practiced according to the latest methods.

In making this review of the progress of this part of the state we desire to compliment Dr. Goodwin upon her standing in the professional world.

They sell much cheaper than formerly as they have placed this concern on a basis of quantity production which gives the people the benefit of low prices.

The late Red Line Delco-Light contains many major improvements as follows: more watts per H. P.; heavier armature; 33 percent greater oil capacity; bigger generator; perfect alignment of brush assembly; new "Tension Control" for uniform brush pressure; "No Arcing" brush; positive "Load Controller"; new throttle insuring proper "Trickle Charge"; oil filler more accessible; greater circumference of generator housing, giving stability to switchboard; fewer parts in brush assembly; better generator ventilation; heavier construction throughout. All these improvements are exclusive with the Delco; they are to be found on no other makes.

In making this review we are glad to point out the advantages of this marvelous invention and to predict its practical universal use in the no distant future. They are in line with modern ideas and should be seen and investigated by all the farm and country home owners of this section of the country.

Young's Laundry

Located At 255 Main St., Berlin, Offers A Most Complete Laundry Service According To The Latest And Most Sanitary Methods—Plant Furnished With The Newest And Finest Laundry Equipment—Features Wash And A Family Service For Every Purpose—Phone 75—Offer An Excellent Opportunity To Some One To Represent Them In Bethel.

Young's Laundry of Berlin is an institution offering the people a service in the finest of laundry work and leaves nothing undone to give the public garments that are clean and spotless.

The problem of laundry work has been one of the troublesome questions since organized society started the wearing of woven fabrics. In the half civilized countries it started by laundering the garments on the backs of the weavers and today this method is used even in the United States among the Indians in the Everglades. The next step was the taking of the garments down to the banks of the river and laundering them on the stones. The family washing and the modern laundry were the next stages of laundry progress. Today with our modern cleanliness and the rapid spread of American plumbing laundry work has become quite a factor in the life of the people. Scarcity of help and the superior processes used at this laundry make its service far more attractive. With the passing of the pioneer days the celluloid collar was thrown into the discard and today the modern citizen must be dressed in linen and fine materials to meet his fellowman and command respect.

Modernism and chemistry are sometimes carried too far and as a result garments are sometimes injured by processes, but at this laundry they have solved this problem. While the manager uses all processes that are approved by such institutions as The Mellon Institute of Industrial Research yet they rely on clean, soft water which is the natural cleaner of dirty linen and all garments are turned out with that soft distinctness that makes the wearer feel fine as well look good.

At Young's Laundry they offer the best of service and have wagon delivery in much of the territory. Just call them on the phone and they will give you complete information on the service in your neighborhood.

In this review of our progress we are glad to compliment them upon the superior service and fine work and to say that they are quite a factor in keeping the people of this section in clean and comfortable linen.

Mr. Shea of Rumford enjoys the reputation of having a tailoring establishment that turns out garments of individuality and makes the customers present an appearance that gives them a pleasant greeting everywhere they go.

The choosing of proper materials and wearing clothes that are made for you and not for everyone is an important matter. We are pleased to call the attention of all of the people to his excellent services and would suggest that people call around and look over the excellent line of materials now on display and talk over the tailoring situation with him.

In this review we are glad to compliment this concern on the position it enjoys in the business world and to call the attention of the public to the growing fame which spreads to all parts of the country as they have patrons who come to the city especially for the work from all sections.

J. R. Nason is responsible for the modernization of many of the comfortable homes and business buildings in this part of the country and the work has been met with universal commendation.

The standard of living in America is higher than in any other country in the world and in order to enjoy this condition it is necessary to have in our modern homes a study of the problems of heating and plumbing work. J. R. Nason, who from study and research thoroughly understands all the problems in these lines, both from the theoretical and practical standpoint.

The scope of the work includes heating and plumbing in all the various places and thus is very comprehensive. He will aid in the making of your plans, give you an estimate and complete the work so that everything will be satisfactory. This applies to the country places as well as city homes as they are prepared to install the most modern heating and plumbing system that give such excellent results.

He offers a complete service in heating and plumbing work and this includes both repair work and the installation of a complete system. He has all kinds of supplies and is prepared to give complete service that will conform to all the rules of the master plumbers as well as the laws. If you have plumbing in your place it would be well to look up the installation of an extra bath room for the guests or for the accommodation of the family. At least if you do not happen to have a shower it would be well to install that. It was Moses, the first great teacher, who said: "Baths in running water." No bath room is complete without the shower.

They will install a burner that will answer all needs, will be automatic and thus cause less trouble and expense in operation; one that will pass all rules of the underwriters and one that is founded on the latest of scientific principles of combustion.

He employs men who are thoroughly competent in these lines and under the supervision of this house all work is executed according to the rules and codes of master engineers and craftsmen so that it will pass inspection and last for years.

In making this review of our progress we are glad to compliment him upon the number of residences and business buildings he has been called on to modernize as well as the new ones he has completed in the heating and plumbing line.

It is well equipped to render the highest type of accurate service. Not only has he had adequate training and a wide experience, but he grinds his own lenses and thus is admirably situated to render his clients the best service that knowledge, experience and modern equipment will permit.

In making this review of our progress we are glad to compliment Dr. J. B. Lebrun upon the high standing he enjoys in the professional and business world and to refer him to all of our readers.

This custom took its origin from the people of Tyrope, Pa.

They use the very best of materials and all their beverages are rich in flavor and sparkle. Always demand the product of this plant. Look at the label and see that you get what you order as the products are the result of superior recipes that are only known to the management.

The products are made from Mt. Zircon water. A few miles from Rumford and an interesting spot for one to visit is Mt. Zircon spring. It is a spring that ebbs and flows with the moon; it was formerly called Moonlight Spring. It maintains a normal flow of 42 gallons every minute through all the phases of the moon until the first full moon, when it suddenly increases its flow to about 60 gallons during the same time. Like the tide of the sea, it is influenced by the moon, and no one can explain of their beverages.

While their products are very popular at soda fountains and soft drink establishments yet they have a large home trade as their beverages and soft drinks are very convenient in the making of punches and other choice delicacies that are very appropriate in the home entertainment. They offer excellent service to church, society and lodge affairs.

We are glad to compliment them upon the position they occupy in the business life of the community and to refer their products to all our readers as well as to call to the attention of the people the superiority of their beverages.

DAVIS G. LOVEJOY

Davis G. Lovejoy died Thursday night, June 18, after a long illness, being confined to his bed the greater part of the time for the past eight months. He was born at Andover, Nov. 5, 1861, the son of John and Mary Adams Lovejoy, and spent his early years in his native town where he received his education in the public and high schools of Andover, later attending Commercial College at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In 1885 he came to Bethel where he was employed in the store of the late Ceylon Rowe, later employed by Calvin Bisbee in the grocery store and mill.

Mr. Lovejoy was twice married. His first wife was Miss Nellie Leach of Bethel, who passed away in 1904. In 1906 he was united in marriage with Mrs. Fannie Bisbee, and together they continued with the grain business until 1914, when he was forced to give up because of ill health and sold the business. During their 25 years of married life they have made their home on Vernon Street, Bethel except for several winters spent at Fellsmead, Fla., where he owned a home.

Mr. Lovejoy was a very active member of the Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, Masonic and Eastern Star lodges, filling every office in the Odd Fellows and Masonic orders. He served the town as clerk very successfully for several years, and was always interested in everything pertaining to the best interest of his town and community. He was a constant attendant at the Methodist Church, giving freely of his time, service and substance to that cause.

He was a prominent citizen, a man who was well liked and will continue to be missed as he has been during his long illness. He is survived by his widow, one brother, Walter Lovejoy, of Brockton, Mass., and several cousins.

The funeral was held at his late home on Vernon Street Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. The Masonic order performed their impressive services, assisted by Rev. R. C. Dalzell. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lovejoy of Brockton, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Bertram G. Packard of Augusta, Mrs. Emma Berry and Mrs. Martha Kendall of West Paris came to attend the funeral.

MAIN CIRCUS COMING TO BETHEL NEXT MONTH

Returning to Bethel on July 10, 1931 for the first visit in several seasons, Walter L. Main Circus, the biggest independent circus ever assembled, giving the longest and largest street parade in the world today, brings its 52nd season's offering, a gala of circus artists supreme, the largest circus tent ever carried by any circus and the most astounding array of circus stars ever brought together of assemblage with any one show.

From every corner of the universe and world has Walter L. Main drawn his talent, from every sector of the country has he assembled the most diversified collection of wild and domesticated animals and promises the biggest and best circus ever seen.

Truly is the people of the world represented in the array of talent found upon its program, Cubans, Arabians, Mexicans, Irish, French, Turks, and from the land of Lilliput comes Walter L. Main's "tiny mites" perfect midgets the largest standing but twenty one inches in height. From the far-off Congo regions we find the Belgian head hunters, the first time these savages have ever before been exhibited under any names.

As a special feature Walter L. Main presents a pretentious, gorgeous, high speed, titled "AROUND THE WORLD," special musical score and theatrical effects make this feature of the high spot of the engagement.

Realize that over 200,000 has been gathered by Walter L. Main in making the season's tour the triumph tour of his 52 years of touring to the demands of the sophisticated and discerning and he has not every effort to secure the highest class talent that "circusland" can offer.

Don't forget the price of admission has been reduced and are in keeping with conditions, children under ten years of age are charged 25 cents and adults 50 cents for combined adults and menagerie.

Scientists Baffled by

Malignant Tactse Fly
Ruling a modern empire is not wholly a matter of troops, treaties and trade agreements. Short battalions of scientists may be required to combat native enemies far lower menacing than an uprising of barbarians, according to the National Geographic Society. For example, in central Africa the British recently captured 1,300 enemies in a five-day insect campaign, to wit, which were caught in 18 imitation animal traps. The insect fly lives in the bush. When an animal wanders into the bush and is infected by the insect the natives the fly region, but on they did before the swarms of the insects of the bush and do in one day history. Only the insect fly is a much deadlier enemy than the insect. It has effectively wiped out battalions of extensive areas in Tanganyika and has as California and regions as extensive as Africa, India, Java, the Philippines, Siam, and the Malay Peninsula. Throughout these units of Britain's political domain cultivated patches of land have been abandoned, farms and pastures have gone back to the bush, and the insect fly remains its jealous reign.

Hungry London Consumes

Foodstuffs by the Ton
Nearly 400 miles of bread are eaten by Londoners every day. The weekly ration is 27 pounds half-quarter loaves, and, although they vary in size and shape, if they were all of the "sandwich" type, about seven to eight inches long, they would extend, if placed in a straight line, for 2,100 miles.
Very large quantities of foodstuffs are unloaded at the London docks every year. The figures for last year, according to a statement made by the port of London authority recently, indicated 1,400,000 tons of wheat, 2,800,000 tons of flour, 600,000 tons of oilseed and 1,000,000 tons of butter.
One astonishing figure was 621,000 tons of green food and vegetables. And London also imported 40,000 pounds of tea, enough to make 40,000,000 cups. Between six and seven every day of the year for every man, woman and child in England and Wales.

Quinine Tercentenary
The tercentenary of the first use of quinine was held in St. Louis of France's garden, October 31 and November 1, 1901. The earliest well authenticated instance of the medicinal use of quinine bark is found in 1634 when the countess of Chinchon (the name), the wife of the governor of Peru, was cured of an attack of fever by its administration. The medicine was recommended to her case by the surgeon of Lima, who was said to have practically eradicated its symptoms sixteen years earlier. A knowledge of the bark was disseminated throughout Europe by members of the Jesuit brotherhood, whence it also became generally known as Jesuit's bark. According to another account, this name arose from its value having been first discovered by a Jesuit missionary, who, when prostrated with fever, was cured by the administration of the bark by a South American Indian.

Art Treasures Beyond

All Price in Vatican
It would take volumes to enumerate the treasures of the Vatican. The chapels of San Lorenzo, the Statue and the Pauline are decorated with frescoes by Fra Angelico, Michelangelo, Perugino and others. Four chambers were decorated by Raphael. The picture gallery is not large, but the paintings are among the most valuable in the world. Raphael's "Transfiguration," his "Madonna di Foligno" and his "Coronation of the Virgin," besides some smaller pictures, are here. So are works of Mantegna, Titian, Perugino, Correggio, Paul Veronese and others of the greatest of painters.

The museum contains not only many of the most beautiful sculptures in the world, ancient Greek statues, among which are the Laocoon and the Apollo Belvidere, but also great numbers of antiquities, relics of ancient Italy, Greece and Egypt.
The library at the Vatican was founded in 1378, and now contains a valuable collection of 60,000 manuscripts and 250,000 volumes of rare books. A recent addition to this collection is the Hogwood library and archives presented by Louis Meneghini of Detroit, Mich. This library includes many valuable books gathered by Pope Clement IX of Rome during his pontificate from 1667 to 1669; also a portrait of Pope Clement by Carlo Maratta.

Layberry Candle Boon

To New England Women
Candles in days gone by were an item of expense to be reckoned with in the poor courts of Europe, as many on this being used on grand occasions when the vast halls were to be lighted with candles. From the demand the making of candles developed into quite an important industry and laws were passed regulating the size and adulteration of the materials to be used.
When the Pilgrims found themselves on the bleak shores of New England with few facilities for artificial illumination, says the New York Sun, other methods of lighting their homes had to be devised. At first, like the Indians, they used knots of pitch pine to light their cabins, but it was not long until the thrifty New England woman learned that by boiling the little gray bayberries that grow on the low windswept shores along the coast she could procure a wax which rose to the top of the kettle. From this she made the first bayberry candles.

First Sunday Schools

A century and a half has elapsed since Robert Raikes began his organization of Sunday schools. The credit for the founding of the earliest of Sunday schools, as distinct from the Sunday school movement, however, is claimed for the little spinster Methodist Hannah Ball, friend of John Wesley, whose first Sunday school was established in High Wycombe, 161 years ago, 11 years before Raikes' historic movement, and is still active. An authority on the subject has stated: "It seems almost certain that John Wesley, who rode on horseback from place to place, and who visited Gloucester, spoke of the work of Hannah Ball to Robert Raikes, a man of great abilities, who thereupon not only organized a school, but set him to organizing others."—Montreal Family Herald.

Standard Time

According to the United States naval observatory at Washington, standard time had not come into general use in 1853, no uniform standards existed then. At present, the time zone in which England is located uses the local time of Greenwich, and the time used in London in 1853 was practically the same as the Greenwich time today. Sweden adopted standard time in 1862. Since that date it has used time one hour more advanced than that of Greenwich. Stockholm, no doubt, used its own local time before 1862, which would have been a few minutes more advanced than the time used today. Owing to Greenland's sparse population, that country has not yet adopted standard time.

Country's Foggiest Spots

The foggiest spot in the United States brightened a little in 1930, and had only 1,562 hours of fog, so light house keepers at Moose Peak, Me., have reported to the lighthouse service of the Department of Commerce. At Moose Peak, records for the last 10 years show a yearly average of 1,607 hours of fog. Runners up on Moose Peak's record are Libby Island and Petit Manan, also on the Maine coast. They are foggy a good bit of the time, but cannot quite match Moose Peak's figures. The United States lighthouse service states that Point Reyes light station holds the record for fog on the Pacific coast, with an average of 1,398 hours a year for 45 years.—Orin.

Remembered Old Debt

To pay back 50 cents he had borrowed from a schoolmate 50 years ago Ernest M. Ledden, New York, is said to have done to San Francisco, and handed a 50-cent piece to his creditor, Montreal Judge Fritz. Ledden was a student at college in San Francisco in 1860. The two boys reacted to no swimming one day. Ledden had no bathing suit nor any money to buy one, so Fritz lent him half a dollar.

TWO-MINUTE SERMON

WORKERS TOGETHER WITH GOD

Someone has well said that "Jesus Christ alone can save the world, but that Jesus Christ can not save the world alone." The Master chose twelve men to carry out his plans and purposes—to complete the work he had begun. Human instrumentality can not be eliminated. It is God's way. Therefore man may thwart the purposes of Almighty God. If the church has not accomplished its purpose for which Christ established it, it is not because Christianity is at fault, but because man has failed. Unless we do our part there is no salvation for the individual or for the race. If then, the triumph of the church depends upon me, shall I not be loyal? Ask yourself this question: "If every member were just like me, what kind of a church would this church be?" Or again, "If every member were such as I, how long would it take the church to die?"

Two small boys were waiting to cross Euclid Avenue in heavy traffic. One said, "Come on, let's go." "No," said the other, "Let's wait for an empty space to come along."

A good crowd is expected from adjacent towns. There will be a dance after the play if there are enough stay for a dance.

Finally Blurted Out His Engagement

By CLARISSA BENTLEY

(Copyright 1931, McClure Newspaper Syndicate, Inc.)

SOMETIMES Tom sat tensely at the little writing table for an hour or more writing to his beloved Edith. Sometimes he just sprawled out in an easy chair before the fire idly dreaming of Edith, who lived eight hundred miles away and whom he saw but seldom.

This keeping bachelor apartment with a man engaged was beginning to get on Jim's nerves. For weeks, even before Tom was engaged, he had been, as Jim thought, mentally unbalanced.

Perhaps the worst feature of Tom's mind was his apparent joyousness. He sat there with such an idiotic expression of happiness on his good-looking face. He whistled like a cat, any bird when he dressed in the morning. He always thought the weather was fine and he always felt tipsy. In a way Jim envied him.

Kate Fenwick had worked in the same office with Jim for two or three years. Nice girl, Kate—was what he thought about her if he thought anything. He saw her and talked with her every day. She usually took his dictation. Sometimes she showed him little things she had bought—wedding presents for girls who were getting married, little toys for her nephews and nieces.

Business was extremely brisk toward spring and it was apparent one Saturday that some special reports would have to be put through on Sunday. The president of the concern asked Jim to attend to them and incidentally suggested to Kate Fenwick that she meet Jim at the office to take dictation.

They began working that spring Sunday at nine o'clock and Jim was so interested in his work that he never once thought of Kate as anything more than an automaton until it was past twelve. That was one thing that made Kate such a good stenographer. She was never obtrusive—didn't use perfume or wear dangling bracelets or bright colors.

They finished their work at about the same time and for no reason in particular Jim asked Kate what she was going to do next. Kate looked up, blushing a little and Jim felt that perhaps he had been abrupt with her. She had worked like a little steam engine and he had never thought of her as being even human. That is why he asked her to have luncheon with him. There were so few places open downtown on Sunday and she lived far uptown. After luncheon he asked her again what she was going to do, and again she blushed and said nothing. "I'm going to take a ferry across the river and then take a walk along the river bank on the other side," he told her. Kate said she envied him and so Jim asked her if she would care to go with him.

Spring in the air made the river bank very beautiful that afternoon, and as Jim and Kate climbed up and down the steep embankments Jim held Kate's round little arm to keep her from slipping. He made no effort to be agreeable or otherwise to this girl whom he saw every day but he began to realize that it was very good to have her with him.

Then they sat on an embedded boulder that looked out over the river below. Jim felt as if he were a thousand miles away from the city. He looked at the slupely hand stretched out on the rock beside him and studied those fingers that had worked so efficiently for him that morning.

It seemed the most natural thing in the world to lift that hand up in his and as it felt very docile he lifted it to his lips to kiss it. Suddenly Jim felt awkward. He felt as if he had arrived somewhere, without knowing how he had come. He began to wonder whether he could trace his steps back again. Then he wondered whether he really wanted to.

"You aren't angry with me, are you—Kate?" he asked.

"Of course not, Jim," she said, and he noticed that tears glistened in her pretty brown eyes. "You know I have always liked you, Jim."

"And I have always thought you the best stenographer in the world," said Jim, feeling suddenly that perhaps he had better find his way back again. But Kate took her hand away from him and turned, trying in vain to hide a falling tear.

"I think much more than that," said Jim, feeling suddenly very forlorn without that little hand in his. He took it back again and kissed it.

"I'm so happy, Jim—dear," said Kate, and then without knowing how it happened Jim realized that her arms were around Kate and that her smooth little head was resting on his shoulder.

When Jim got back to the apartment at six that night he found Tom sprawling in an easy chair before the fire place, in which glowed a few fading embers. Jim took off his light coat and hat and dropped down in a chair on the other side of the fireplace. For an hour the two men sat there—the same rather foolish, contented expression written on both faces. Then when the last flicker of light died from the embers Tom roused himself. He suggested having something to eat.

"Something to eat—that's right—I'd forgotten," stammered Jim. "You see, old pal, I'm engaged."

WHY Chinese Build Houses With Upturned Corners

Upturned corners have always been an architectural peculiarity of Chinese houses. It has been suggested that the design is an imitation of the outline of the tents that originally the Chinese may have inhabited. Tradition has always inspired them, and the idea gains color from the double roofs that give a reminder of double ty tents.

Some of the earliest Chinese pictures, however, show that the buildings had then quite a different form. The palaces were large, open halls with flat roofs, adorned with gargoyles, the chief purpose of which was defense from evil spirits of the upper air. Moreover, some of the latest western authorities consider it unlikely that the Chinese ever lived in tents.

"The tradition, therefore, is super-natural rather than material," writes Mrs. Alfred Wingate, an authority on Chinese art and culture, in her book, "The Golden Phoenix." "Its survival shows a sense of humor. According to popular superstition, evil spirits can only fly in a straight line. Therefore, instead of the ugly gargoyle, curve the line of the roof, so that the demon descending and seeking to enter the portal may be tossed back into the upper air."

"The isolated screen-like wall, standing before the entrance of private or official buildings, had the same purpose. Human guests might dismount behind this screen in privacy, but evil spirits, unable to find the door, would be turned back."

Why "Seventh Son" Idea Is Not Wholly a Myth

Since time immemorial the seventh son of a seventh son (or child as some say) was supposed to be endowed with notable talents and supernatural powers. According to an ancient belief which persisted far into the Middle Ages, the seventh son of a seventh son is endowed with the power not only of curing diseases by the laying on of hands but also of predicting magic and forecasting future events. Seven was regarded as a sacred and magical number among many ancient peoples, including the Hebrews, Assyrians and Arabians. In both the Old and New Testaments seven frequently occurs as a number with a special significance. The ancient belief about the seventh son of a seventh son may have had a slight foundation in fact. Some students of eugenics are of the opinion that the younger children of unusually intelligent men are likely to inherit more of their father's mentality than the older children are. This is based on the theory that a man of intelligence generally continues to develop mentally until late in life and the older children have a tendency to inherit only what mental qualities he may have developed at the time they were conceived while the children born later have a tendency to inherit their father's matured mentality.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Why Canned Foods Spoil
There are two causes of food spoilage in canning: First, there are present in all fresh fruits and vegetables substances called enzymes. These enzymes bring about the normal ripening of fruits and vegetables and, unless checked, the final decay of the product. Since heating is an essential step in canning and these enzymes are easily destroyed by heat, it is only necessary to avoid the changes they bring about in the food between the time it is gathered and the time it is cooked. The second and more important cause of food spoilage is the action of minute plants which are present in the air, soil, water, and, in fact, on everything. There are three groups of these plants—bacteria, yeasts and molds. Commercial canning is scientifically done and these dangers eliminated.

Why Stars Rotate
Man has often wondered just what causes the rotation of stars. Here's the answer, according to Dr. Rose Gunn, astrophysicist of the Naval Research Laboratory at Washington: "The rotation of all heavenly bodies is intimately related to the dissipation of matter. In a non-changing and non-radiating universe the sun and stars would not exist." In other words, the continual loss of matter and weight makes the stars rotate. Doctor Gunn estimates that our own beloved sun loses more than 4,000,000 tons of substance every second and that other stars suffer corresponding losses. Which, of course, supports the contention of many scientists that the old universe is running down.

Why Egyptians Embalmed
The Egyptians believed that after the soul departed from the body it was judged in the Hall of Double Truth before Osiris, the Judge of the dead. After it had undergone all its transformations it would return and again enter the body in the tomb. If by any chance the heart was destroyed, it would not be possible for the dead to enjoy life in the world to come.

Why Called "German Silver"
German silver is so called because the first use of it, to any great extent, was made in Germany. It does not contain a particle of silver. It is an alloy of copper, nickel and zinc.

Why "Royal Fish"
The whale and sturgeon are known as "royal fish" because they belong to the King of England when washed ashore or caught near the coast.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Saturday, June 20th, was a real Panama and Palm Beach day. The unusual clemency of temperature drove thousands to the mountains and lake resorts, but the early shower of Sunday morning ushered in another of our perfect days in Maine, the grand old Pine Tree State.

Ed Bibbee was a recent caller at George Davis'. He was on a hike to visit his mother and brother at North Norway, also calling on other relatives and friends in Paris.

Stanley and Linwood Andrews were members of Shemus Orchestra which furnished music for a dance at West Sumner Saturday evening, June 20, playing violin and banjo respectively.

George Davis was violinist for Keith when they, with other local talent, played with a New York orchestra which furnished music for a large Finnish assembly dance at West Paris.

Gerald Felt Davis spent Sunday at Bryant Pond.

George Young and family of West Paris were callers at George Davis' Sunday.

Mrs. Velma Davis is still at Bryant Pond in charge of Davis' Refreshment Parlors, as Stephen Davis, proprietor, and wife, have not yet returned from North Conway, N. H.

Several relatives were callers on Mrs. Lura Thorn Sunday.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ring, Jr., are sending congratulations on the birth of a daughter June 15.

Charles Sautera is saving pulp for Harry Silver. He has a summer's job ahead.

Albert Felt and family took a pleasure trip Sunday to Bethel, Hanover and Rumford, going by the way of Pleasant Pond and returning home through Milton and over Pine Hill in Woodstock.

Frank Brooks and family of Bethel were recent callers on his sister, Mrs. May Felt, and family.

Alfred Felt is assisting as bookkeeper in the family of Henry Jones at West Paris.

Samuel Samborn was a caller at the Davis home Sunday. He reports that he likes very much where he now is at the end of the road on the Luther Whitman place, one of the oldest settlers of Woodstock, and that there is no place so enjoyable as camp, a home among the mountains.

The Kennans are cutting pulp for Wm. H. Hendrickson.

Meetings of unusual interest are being held every Sabbath at the Seventh Day Advent Church. Everyone is welcome. "Whoever will may come."

The singing and the sermons by the Rev. Townsend are uplifting and inspirational.

It is very seldom that a grandparent has the honor of having three grand children graduate from high school the same year. This honor was bestowed upon Mr. and Mrs. Anson Cash of this place, whose granddaughter, Marion Fields, graduated from Union High, Union Falls from Oxford High, and Robert Farrington from Woodstock High.

Frank Nash is visiting at the home of Gerald Hanson and assisting with the general work while Benson is on road construction.

Archie Hodgkins is working at the telephone office at West Paris.

G. W. Q. Perham, Edwin Perham, and A. M. Andrews were in attendance at Oxford Lodge, No. 1, of Ark Mariners, which sailed on a rough sea Wednesday, June 17th. All forms of seasickness were absent and the voyage for all ended happily.

Some time we hear of the sickness of a friend or neighbor, and as is natural we visit to sympathize, to offer assistance. We recently called on such a one and in making inquiry we were surprised to learn that "Oh no, we are getting along nicely. No, not sick. Just see. I walk, work a little, still read a lot, study and meditate as usual, enjoy every day. Thank God I am still able to bear the burdens of life. I often send heart messages of thought to those much more in need. It is wonderful to live in this wonderful world."

ARIZONA'S STORY

Ancient Mission of San Xavier del Bac, in Arizona.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

ACROSS Arizona, automobile traffic is setting predominantly eastward, where it flowed west a few months ago. Much of it comes from California, but to a goodly number of the motorists who have been in quest of milder climates Arizona has been winter home, for it is fast becoming an American Egypt.

Since 1920, Arizona's tourist traffic has grown more than 1,000 per cent. Winter playground hunters are drawn to her ever-multiplying hotels, auto camps and dude ranches. In Phoenix on some winter nights 2,500 people sleep in the auto camps. At Flagstaff, among 51 motor cars parked about a hotel, licenses were counted from 22 different states and two from Canada. By train and auto, more than 200,000 people saw the Grand Canyon in one recent year.

Ten years ago a dozen tourists a day, coming from Tucson down to Nogales, were a crowd of sightseers. Last year close to 15,000 motorcar parties visited this bilingual town that sprawls astride the international border. Since the recent completion of the Southern Pacific railroad line down the Mexican west coast, one may ride from Los Angeles to Mexico City. This puts old Nogales, once but a camping place for Forty-niners, on one of the main railways tying up the two republics—a new channel of north and south tourist travel.

New Grand Canyon Bridge.

One of the highest bridges in the world has been completed recently across the Grand Canyon. One hundred thirty-five miles north of Flagstaff this dizzy structure spans the Colorado. It eliminates the old river crossing, known as Lees Ferry, six miles above its site. Until now the only vehicular way through the Canyon was down a narrow, dangerous mountain road that hugged the face of bluffs, to reach Lees Ferry, set up long ago by Mormons migrating to Arizona from Utah. Except the Mormons, Indians, traders, and trappers, very few travelers have ever passed this way.

Yet this path leads through a region of astounding and rugged beauty. From Flagstaff north it crosses the flaming Painted Desert; then, over the bridge hung like a giant steel spider web spun between precipitous canyon cliffs, past Bryce Canyon, into the Kaibab National Forest and Zion National Park.

Through countless centuries, until this bridge was built, the great gorge barred man from travel north and south.

In all the United States there were no two post offices "so near and yet so far" apart as those on opposite sides of the Grand Canyon of Arizona before this bridge was built. It is only about eleven miles by air line from the post office at Grand Canyon station, Arizona, on the south rim, to Kaibab Forest station, on the north rim. Yet, because it was quicker, mail, before the bridge opened, was sent via California, Nevada, through Utah, down to Cedar, and thence 170 miles by stage or vice versa, between these post offices, a distance of 1,125 miles, though one station can be seen from the other through field glasses.

Arizona's white population, not including Mexicans, has increased by 50 per cent since the Spanish-American war and its wealth has multiplied twenty times. Lonely cow trails are changed to crowded motor lanes, and million-dollar hotels flank their splendor where "hole-in-the-wall" shacks were long men's only shelter.

High Lights of Arizona's Story.

Now, to see modern Arizona whole, look hastily at its map spot and at high lights in its astounding past.

Under the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo in 1848, the United States acquired land only as far south as the Gila river; by the Gadsden Purchase, in 1853, it received the rest of that terra incognita later called Arizona territory.

A few studious Americans, delving in early Spanish chronicles, learned that explorers like Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado, and early missionaries like Father Kino had found here "rivers with banks three leagues high" and mines rich enough to yield a silver nugget so heavy that two mules were lashed together to carry it. From beaver trappers, too, who had ventured down the Colorado, tales of Arizona's scenic wonders, and especially of its wrinkle Apaches, had been brought back. But to most Americans practically nothing was known of Arizona; it was too hard of access.

One early delegate to congress reached Washington by way of Panama and is said to have collected $7,000 in mileage! This same delegate, years later, set up a sun-worship cult in Arizona.

To give Arizona a seaport, Mr. Gadsden's own plan was to take in part of Sonora, down to Guaymas. This would have provided a port on the Gulf of California, which might have shifted the whole economic and immigration history of Arizona and probably of northwest Mexico, too. But this plan was not approved; Uncle Sam found himself with a remote, unexplored savage land, hard to reach. So, instead of our "American Egypt" having a seaport on its border, it remains a landlocked region of long rail hauls.

This inaccessibility, the character of the country itself, and its savage inhabitants kept Arizona for decades the most backward of all our territories.

Buying Arizona was folly, Eastern people said; its arid wastes were useless. Yet surveys began to show that, for all its evil deserts, it had big rich spots of much value; also, now that it belonged to us, we were free to make roads across it, to tie up Texas with southern California.

Nearly Isolated for Years.

Yet for twenty years after the Gadsden purchase Arizona communicated with the outside world largely by water. Ships ran from San Francisco to the mouth of the Colorado river, via the Mexican ports of Mazatlan, La Paz, and Guaymas.

A semi-monthly mail and passenger stage line was started in 1857 from San Antonio to San Diego; but at times it cost the government $65 to carry each letter! A year later the historic Butterfield stages began running between St. Louis and San Francisco. An early writer says: "This was one of the grand achievements of the age, to span the continent by a semi-weekly line of stages, under bonds to perform, by sole power of horseflesh, a trip of nearly 2,500 miles within the schedule of 25 days."

It was the trek of people from the South to the West after the Civil war that began to give Arizona population. Previous to that, white men saw little of it, except the regions about Tucson, the Gila Bend, and Yuma, which lay along the Forty-niners' trails.

Today passengers on fast trains through Arizona complain if the shower in the club car is not cool, or if the barber's razor is dull. Getting "laid out" for two hours at a pace like Tubane with a broken engine is called hardship.

Arizona really began to grow up with the development of her mines by Americans.

Future Seems Assured.

Fears that when mines were worked out Arizona might decline in wealth and population have been allayed since the World war. There are two reasons. First, the increase of farm settlers under new irrigation projects; second, discovery of ways to mine and smelt copper at lower cost.

Where low-grade copper ore occurs in great masses near the top of the second, as at Bisbee, miners simply blast and let the steam shovel. More than 100,000 tons of rock have been hauled by one "shot."

One can grasp the size of Arizona's copper industry when it is known that the state employs more than 25,000 men and digs each year 675,000,000 pounds of ore, 17,500,000 pounds of metal, 6,000,000 ounces of silver, and $5,000,000 in gold.

Inevitably, mining will decline; but by that day Arizona believes her increased farm, fruit, live stock, and other growing industries will preserve her economic balance.

Today there is the great Yuma project, the big new dam at Horse Mesa and Mormon Flat, and the new multiple dam twofold dam on the Gila river, near San Carlos. The last named stands in a box canyon, eighty miles above the lands it waters. At present about 4,000 Pima Indian farmers, with 20,000 acres, are the chief beneficiaries. Not to make the project practical economically, it also waters an equal area owned by white farmers near Florence and Casa Grande.

President Hoover Delivers Addresses in Three Middle West States—Moves Toward Restoration of Economic Prosperity.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

President Hoover

Responsibility for the existing economic depression in the United States should be laid to frozen confidence rather than to frozen assets, according to President Hoover, who addressed the Indiana Republican Editorial association and its guests in Indianapolis. The Chief Executive expressed his hopes and plans for renewed prosperity which shall be wrought out of the nation's great natural resources by a people with renewed courage; and he vigorously defended the course of his administration in the crisis and denounced panaceas for recovery.

After alluding to the Russian five-year plan, Mr. Hoover proposed what he called an American plan. Said he: "We plan to take care of 20,000,000 increase in population in the next 20 years. We plan to build for them 4,000,000 new and better homes, thousands of new and still more beautiful city buildings, thousands of factories; to increase capacity of our railroads; to add thousands of miles to our highways and waterways; to install 25,000,000 electrical horse-power. We plan to provide new parks, schools, colleges and churches for this 20,000,000 people. We plan to secure greater diffusion of wealth, a decrease in poverty and a great reduction in crime."

From Indianapolis the President and his party, which included Mrs. Hoover and their son Allan, went to Marion, Ohio, and took part in the dedication of the magnificent memorial to Warren G. Harding. Mr. Hoover delivered the chief address in which he severely condemned the "friends" who betrayed Harding's trust. Former Senator Freylinghuysen, president of the memorial association, presented the memorial to the association, and Calvin Coolidge, who succeeded Harding in the presidency, replied in acceptance. Gov. George White accepted the structure on behalf of the state. Immediately after the ceremonies Mr. Hoover went to Columbus and reviewed a parade of Civil war veterans attending the Ohio G. A. R. encampment.

Next day the presidential party journeyed to Springfield, Ill., for the dedication of the remodeled tomb of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Hoover was the guest of Governor Emmerson and again delivered the main speech at the imposing ceremonies.

The political implications of President Hoover's trip to the Middle West were evident and not denied. The three states he visited have all caused alarm among the Republican leaders by their votes in recent elections. Only last November Illinois replaced a Republican senator with a Democrat and sent five more Democrats to the house in place of Republicans; Ohio elected a Democratic governor and sent six Democrats to congress in place of Republicans, and Indiana replaced six Republican congressmen with Democrats. The Republican managers hoped the presidential tour would have effect in bringing these states back into the fold, and there was also the expectation that it would help in promoting Mr. Hoover's prospects for re-nomination and re-election. That he is a candidate is no longer in doubt, if it ever was. The recent conference of young Republicans in Washington, under the guidance of Senator Fess, national Republican chairman, made that certain.

IN A letter to leaders of American industry and organized labor the National Civic federation takes the first step in setting up a ten year plan of systemizing production, eliminating unemployment and integrating the industrial and economic structure of the nation. The letter was signed by James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany and now the chairman of the federation's commission on industrial inquiry. It is based on a proposal made by Matthew Wolff, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and urges the calling of a national congress to discuss and formulate a program of industrial re-organization and create permanent machinery for this purpose.

Mr. Gerard's letter was addressed to all leading manufacturers in the country, officials of the American Federation of Labor and heads of all international unions. The letter declares that Mr. Wolff's proposal for a great congress of industry has received the endorsement of the national civic federation and expresses the readiness of the federation to support such a congress "if it can give reasonable assurance that the response will be such as to make success probable." Manufacturers and labor leaders were asked to state their opinion and that of their organizations on the proposal and to advise whether they would participate in a preliminary meeting that might be held before the formal calling of the congress.

"What is desired is to draw together a great conclave of delegates, not a mere collection of individuals without representative character," Mr. Gerard's letter declared.

FOR the purpose of encouraging other nations to help in the disarmament movement by telling all about their military strength, the United States, through Secretary Simson, has made public its report on that matter to the League of Nations. The document shows the land, naval and air armaments of the country, giving the exact number of men, warships and aircraft maintained for military and naval purposes. The total number of army reserves is also given, though this information was not asked by the league.

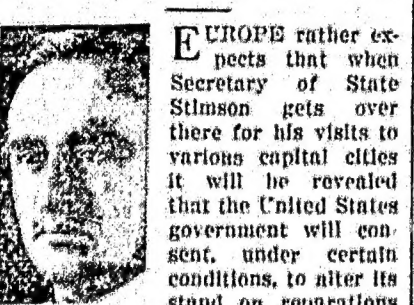

The data gave America's total land effectives as 139,057, including 13,050 officers. The National Guard was listed at "10,774 average daily effectives" and was not included in the total forces because it was reported "not available to the federal government without measures of mobilization."

The total strength of the naval force was fixed at 100,880, including 10,420 officers and 17,500 enlisted personnel of the marine corps. The total armed air forces, including effectives in the army and navy, were placed at 27,324 officers and men, of which 13,155 were credited to the army air corps and 14,169 to the naval air force. The total number of airplanes in the armed forces was listed as 1,752 including 965 army craft and 787 naval planes. Three army and two navy dirigibles, including the Los Angeles, were added.

Japan promptly followed the example set by the United States.

EUROPE rather expects that when Secretary of State Stimson gets over there for his visits to various capital cities it will be revealed that the United States government will consent, under certain conditions, to alter its stand on reparations and war debts. And in this country, there are indications that this may be true. Undersecretary of State William A. Castle gave out a statement the other day to the effect that the government does not consider its position as significant an inflexible thesis, and there have been strong hints at the White House that President Hoover would not oppose the scaling down of war debts if he were assured this would be followed by ample reductions in European armaments.

Mr. Castle said the government is and always has been open minded on the war debt question and has been watching the situation abroad very carefully; he added that no crisis has yet arisen of a nature that would call for any action by this country on the war debts. If such a crisis should arise, he said, it was obvious this government would have to consider whether a temporary change was necessary. Official opinion in Washington was that Mr. Castle's statement was designed to help Chancellor Bruening of Germany in the troubles that beset him.

W. A. Castle

MISS ANNA ADAMS GORDON, former president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and of the World W. C. T. U., died in Castle, N. Y., at the age of seventy-eight years. She was a close friend of the late Frances E. Willard, helped her organize the W. C. T. U. and for many years was her secretary. She was one of the best known of temperance leaders of this generation.

FRANKLIN D. Roosevelt's presidential boom was given a decided boost in Massachusetts by the luncheon given by Col. Edward M. House at his summer cottage near Man-heter-by-the-Sea. The governor of New York was the guest of honor and among those present were the most influential Democratic leaders of the Bay state. Little was said about politics during the luncheon, but the feeling was general that the affair was of considerable political significance, and friends of Mr. Roosevelt are of the opinion that the Massachusetts delegation in next year's national convention will be in line for his nomination. Just before the party rose from the table Colonel House offered a toast to the governor as the man on whom the eyes of the nation are focused.

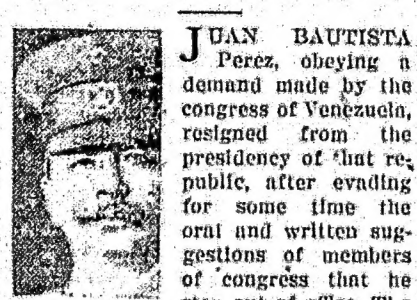

It will be remembered that Colonel House recently announced that he was corresponding with leading Democrats with a view to promoting Roosevelt's presidential prospects. Among the guests at the luncheon was Henry Morgenthau, like House a close friend of Woodrow Wilson, and it is believed he has associated himself with House in this movement with the sanction of Roosevelt, although the governor has not yet declared himself a candidate for the presidential nomination.

AL CAPONE, the world's most notorious gangster, will have to spend some years in Leavenworth penitentiary. Before Federal Judge Wilkerson in Chicago he pleaded guilty to indictments for evasions of income tax payments and for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. He will be sentenced on June 30, probably to from two to four years in prison. Sixty-eight members of Capone's gang also are under indictment for the liquor law conspiracy. Capone's rule as king of gangland is ended.

Juan Vicente Gomez

JUAN BAUTISTA Perez, obeying a demand made by the congress of Venezuela, resigned from the presidency of that republic, after evading for some time the oral and written suggestions of members of congress that he step out of office. The drive against him was managed by supporters of Juan Vicente Gomez who were determined that the veteran should resume the place he held for 20 years from the time of Castro's downfall until May, 1929. He retired then on his own motion and when Perez was elected to succeed him the constitution was amended to permit Gomez to become commander-in-chief of the army and to be responsible only to congress. An academic, rather than active type, President Perez left the task of putting down insurrections—three of which have occurred since he took office—to General Gomez and his army of 12,000 men.

Gomez, in fact, has been almost as much the ruler of the country since retiring as he was before, and his return to the presidency in the election set for June 10 was considered certain. He is getting to be an old man but retains his youthful vigor and pugnaciousness, and probably is the man Venezuela needs.

Paul Doumer

WITH all the traditional splendor and ceremony Paul Doumer was inaugurated as the new president of the French republic, succeeding Gaston Doumergue. Premier Laval called at the senate for M. Doumer and took him to the presidential palace, where his automobile was escorted by a military band of cheering citizens as the ceremony fixed the 21 June date. At the palace the retiring president transferred his office to his successor and M. Doumer received the insignia of grand master of the Legion of Honor from the hands of General Dubuch, head of the organization.

President Doumer's first official act was to go to the city hall and be received by the council, after which he proceeded to the Arc de Triomphe and there, in a solemn ceremony, rejected the eternal flame at the tomb of the unknown soldier. The rite was especially moving for M. Doumer lost four of his five sons in the war.

President Doumer received the resignation of Premier Pierre Laval and his cabinet and urgently requested Laval to retain his office. The latter consented and offered for the president's acceptance an unchanged ministry, including Foreign Minister Briand.

NEARLY 500 persons, most of them women and children, perished when a French excursion steamer capsized near St. Nazaire during a storm. Only eight of those aboard the vessel were saved.

The submarine Nautilus, carrying Sir Hubert Wilkes' under-ice polar expedition, was disabled in mid-Atlantic by the breaking down of her engines, and was taken in tow by the American warship Wyandott.

CARDINAL SERRUA, the exiled prime minister, slipped back into Spain the other day but was promptly apprehended and ordered out again across the French border. His presence in Spain threatened a recurrence of the attacks on church institutions, for the radicals were enraged by the news of his return. The Vatican protested his expulsion.

ONE more member of the federal farm board—the third within a few months—has resigned from that body. He is Samuel H. McKelvie, the wheat member of the board, and he said that as his term had just ended presidential acceptance of his resignation was not necessary. His successor has not yet been announced. Mr. McKelvie, who took part in the recent grain conference in London, will retire to his large live stock ranch in Nebraska.

A BOY SCOUT ON THE JOB

The following story is told by Richard S. Bond, which illustrates well the practical side of the work of the Boy Scout Movement. It shows how many are unprepared with this important phase of their work in the community.

The accident was a serious one. Two upland cars and half a dozen injured persons by the roadside indicated this at the first glance.

Motorists from both directions stopped and did their best to render first aid and get the most seriously injured started for the nearest hospital—which was far away.

That enemy of motorists, shattered glass, had rendered its usual havoc, particularly with one of the drivers from whose arm a spurting flow announced extreme danger.

None seemed to know exactly what to do until a mere youth picked his way through the crowd, wrapped his handkerchief around the patient's arm, slipped a pad beneath it, and then with a screw driver, which he picked up from the ground, gave the tourniquet a few expert twists.

It did the trick.
"Loosen this for a few seconds every ten minutes," he said, "and then tighten it up again. You will have trouble if you don't."

The man was rushed to the hospital, and the boy started back along the line of automobiles. Someone who had watched the boy stopped him and asked him where he had learned to stop an arterial bleeding.

"It's one of the first things a Boy Scout has to learn," he said with a smile, "but I guess I will just call it my good luck for today. You know we pledge ourselves to do at least one good turn daily and I was just telling Dad that I was behind him for today."

And that's all the boy had to say about saving a life. He probably did not even realize that he had taught a score of adults the real meaning of being prepared.

There are some burdens that help; others that hinder. What kind are you carrying?

We have come to the vacation period. How are we to use it? The church will try to maintain its service during this period, for we believe that we can not, in the best interest of the community, surrender altogether to the holiday spirit. There are moral and spiritual values that must be considered. So let us with one accord endeavor to do this.

In the contest in the church school the girls won by a good margin, and it was the purpose to close our school with a good old fashioned Sunday School picnic, but it seems wise to defer this event for a little because of the prevailing epidemics; but we wish to assure all of the members that it will be held at a later date.

SCOUT TROOP BEING ORGANIZED IN BETHEL

During the past week rapid progress has been made in the formation of a Boy Scout troop in the village. Twenty boys have registered and are busy at work on the study and practical examinations which begin the last of this week with Scout Master Herbert R. Bean in charge.

The boys are divided into four patrols which will undergo intensive training this month and it is expected that they will be of assistance at the celebration here on August 3d. Bean has had considerable success in experience in this line and he should consider themselves fortunate in having the benefit of such a leader.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held Wednesday evening, and A. F. Chapman was elected chairman with Mrs. Alma Thurston secretary and treasurer. Local people have pledged a generous sum for this year and a good beginning is assured in this worthwhile work.

LUXTON—GROVER

At four o'clock in the afternoon of a mid-summer day, June 24th, Sylvia Augusta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian L. Grover of Maple Lane Farm was given in marriage to Alton Thaddeus Luxton. Rev. L. A. Edwards officiated, using the double ring service. To the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Dan A. Grover of West Paris, an aunt of the bride, the bridal party entered the living room and took their places beneath the wedding bell which was suspended from an archway of evergreen and white flowers.

The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Grover of Auburn, a sister of the bride, and Lloyd Luxton of Bethel, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride's gown was of white lace with silk lace veil and her arched bouquet was of roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor wore orchid chiffon and carried yellow carnations. The bride's going away dress was of blue, with blue coat and hat to harmonize.

Skillful and loving hands had decorated the house in a very beautiful manner with cut flowers. All the rooms were fragrant with bloom; peonies, roses, and plinks vied with each other for honors. Even the porch was garnished with masses of roses—alike gifts to the bride from old neighbors and friends. Miss Dorothy Grover, Mrs. Paul Head, and Mrs. Brande Whitman had charge of the decorations.

After the ceremony a reception was held and refreshments were served by Mrs. Linwood Lowell, Mrs. Edmund Smith and Mrs. Clyde Morgan. Mrs. Paul Head had charge of the guest book and Miss Hazel Luxton and Miss Hazel Grover took pleasure in carrying the beautiful gifts. "I Love You Truly" was sung, before the ceremony, by the girls' trio, consisting of the Misses Hazel Grover, Catherine Lyon, and Kathryn Herlick.

Mrs. Luxton was born in Bethel, is a graduate of Gould Academy, and has been a successful teacher in the Greenwood and Bethel schools. Mr. Luxton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Luxton and was born in this town, acquired his education in the public schools and was also a student at Gould Academy. He is now employed in Stowell's mill in Bethel.

Amid much laughter, good wishes and a generous lot of confetti, rice and bright streamers the bridal couple left by auto—and failed to say where they were going.

A cordial welcome will be given their friends any time at their home in an upstairs room at Maple Lane Farm, West Bethel.
